

I Wanted to Be a Fireman

Alexandr Vishnevetsky

When I was a child, I wanted to be a fireman. Sometimes I liked to set old newspapers on fire and to then blow them.

Once I set a sofa bed on fire. The sofa bed stood at the street next my building and near the garbage cans. The flames spread very quickly. I tried to blow them but soon the sofa bed and all of the garbage was fire. When I realized what was happening, I cried.

Neighbors who saw this called to the fire department's emergency.911 number Fire trucks came very quickly and the firemen put the fire.

After this incident, I never wanted to be a fireman again!

* * *

Number of errors in prepositions: 7