

Solving Family Problems

Adimir Ramos

My family has good communication because any member of the family can talk about any problem that he or she has with everybody else. Also, when we discuss our problems, we discuss how we can solve them and help each other.

On Friday night, I usually stay at home and help my brothers with their math problems. I usually spend one hour with them, explaining the problems and their solutions. I do this from six o'clock until seven, because at seven we have a family meeting. We have this family meeting every other Friday.

At this time, we discuss what we are going to do in the next few days. For example, once I said that I was gonna join a soccer team, and I was going to need a uniform, so I needed money to buy the shoes, socks, shorts, and T-shirt. My mother told me that she was going to buy me the shoes and socks; my sister said that she was going to buy the shorts, and I was going to buy the t-shirt.

This is how we solve all of our family problems.
