

Everybody Waits for Friday Night

Waltter Teruel

I think that everybody wait for Friday night because this is the last day of work and of school.

What I usually do on Friday night is go out with my wife. We going dancing or go somewhere special to eat. Sometimes we go to a romantic place.

We usually go out with our friends. We going to see a movie or to play sports; sometimes we go bowling or play billiards.

Sometimes we are going to my wife's uncle's house. He's a nice person and he's very funny too. He and his wife always have something going on on Friday night. It's like a mini-party, but it's not really a party. I think that it is a family get-together. They cook something special.

My wife's parents and my parents are different from us. Her parents usually watch TV and my parents are, too.

Sometimes my wife and I decide not to go out. Then one of us is goes to rent a movie and to buy some snacks such as potato chips and soda. Other times we want to play some games so we call our friends and ask them to come over and play with us and have some fun. We really got fun with our friends, and we really like Friday night.
